A black and white photograph of a vintage typewriter. A pair of glasses with round lenses and a dark frame is resting on the typewriter's carriage area. The typewriter has a classic design with a keyboard visible on the right side. The lighting creates strong highlights and shadows, emphasizing the metallic and plastic textures of the machine.

A white rectangular sign with the word "OPEN" written in large, bold, black capital letters. The sign is tilted slightly and is suspended by a thin metal wire that is attached to a circular suction cup at the top. The sign is positioned in front of a metal grate with horizontal bars. The background is dark, and the sides of the frame are painted orange.
